

The simple path to increased production.

Making your wells work harder doesn't mean that your well construction techniques need to be hard. At Weatherford Completion Systems, we've designed our expandable systems to do more with less. So you get increased production and reduced costs, without all the complexities of costly gravel-packing services. To find out more about how our expandable systems are a value-added alternative to traditional well construction technologies, contact expandables@weatherford.com or visit www.weatherford.com. We'll show you a simpler, better way to complete your wells.
